Floods Cripple Dublin

Thousands In Irish Capital Trapped

DUBLIN, Ireland (U-P)—Flood waters surged through almost all the low-lying northern area of Dublin Thursday, trapping thousands of Irishmen in their homes. It was the worst flood in the memory of this Irish capital of more than a half-million population.

Freezing winds and torrential rains whipped much of Europe. Ice, sleet and snow added to the misery. Shipping was hard hit with 64 French fishermen feared lost in seven trawlers which vanished along the French coast during fierce gales. About 100 seamen were known dead or presumed lost in two weeks of almost continuous heavy weather.

In Dublin the Irish army joined with police and fire services in the rescue of thousands of persons marooned in flooded homes. Waters poured out by raging rivers hit the northern part of the city bordering Dublin Bay—an inlet of the Irish Sea.

Flood victims by the hundreds received quick hospital treatment for shock, exposure and exhaustion after 12 hours and more of battling the surging waters.

Aid Ordered
At least 30 were injured. Some had fractures dealt out by floating furniture.

Lord Mayor Alfred Byrne called the floods "the worst I have ever known." He declared a series of emergency zones in the flood areas and ordered every aid for stricken families.

Anxiety grew for hundreds marooned in small farmsteads alongside upper reaches of the Shannon River in central Ireland.

Already the Shannon had spilled over more than 30 square miles and was rising hourly. But Wednesday night's gales so disrupted telephone communications across the country no clear picture of the Shannon floods could be formed here.

The swollen Tolda River, normally a silvery stream, smashed a railroad bridge within a few hundred yards of Dublin's Amiens St. terminus and cut all rail communication with Belfast and the north.

Britain Hit

Great waves pushing over a sea wall swept away part of the line linking Dublin and Rosslare.

In England, lashing rain brought floods to areas still counting damage from Wednesday's vicious gales. Landslides closed more than 20 main highways.

Leicestershire in the midlands reported its worst floods in 25 years. Nearer London, police kept anxious watch on the Thames River, already spilling into washlands in some areas and still rising.

Snow spread over Belgium, Holland and Norway. Gales and hail storms lashed Denmark. Up to three feet of snow in the Swiss and Italian Alps blocked roads overnight. Many more roads were icebound. The forecast was for more bad weather.

Queen Of Roses

Marilyn Smuin, a Pasadena City College sophomore, will reign over the annual festival of flowers as Queen of Pasadena's New Year's Day Tournament of Roses. She is 19, a honey blonde with green eyes and rosy cheeks. Queen Marilyn, who wants to be a school teacher, was selected in successive eliminations from among 1,800 coeds at the college. The six runners-up will make up her Royal Court for the Jan. 1 parade and Rose Bowl game. (AP Wirephoto.)

Cop Catches Burglar In Act At Lawlor's

Beat Policeman Jerry Minnick apprehended a burglar in the act of burglarizing Lawlor's store early Friday, but another burglar escaped from the store with cash and merchandise.

Lincoln Police said that the amount of money and articles stolen could not be assessed until morning.

Police booked the teen-age suspect in on an open charge and spread a dragnet for the other one.

Housewife Booked In Fur Coat Theft

A 22-year-old Lincoln housewife was booked in city jail on an open charge Thursday night in connection with the theft of a $500 fur coat from the rest room at Miller and Paine.

Adenauer Meets Rebuff

Bundesrat Majority Is In Danger

Socialists And Three Right Wing Parties To Form A Coalition

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's firm hold on the Bonn Parliament's upper house was shaken Thursday in one of the biggest domestic setbacks he has suffered this year.

The anti-rearmament Socialists and three right wing parties announced a decision to form the unprecedented state coalition which would end Adenauer's eight-year control of the Bavarian state government.

The surprise move seemed virtually certain to deprive Adenauer of his two-thirds majority in the Bonn Bundesrat (upper house), since the new state government will appoint its six representatives in the federal body.

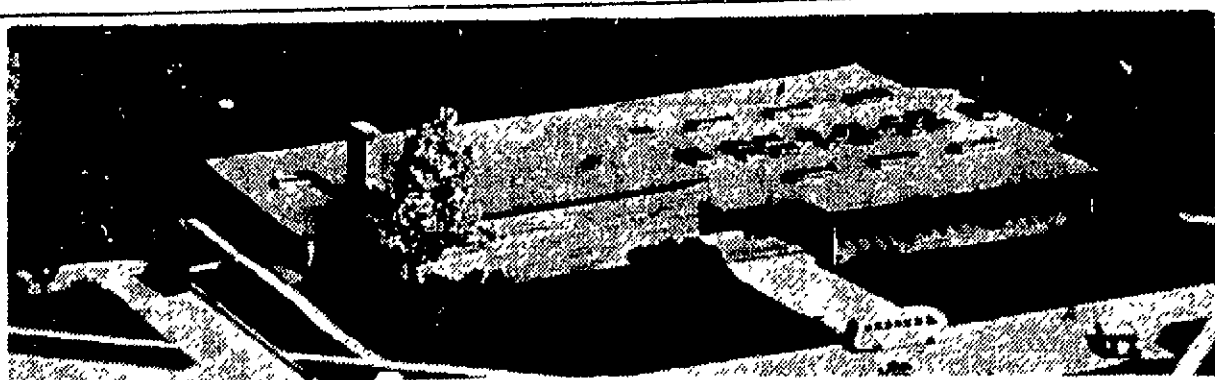

If Adenauer loses his two-thirds majority in the Bundesrat it would pose a serious threat to implementation of the Paris treaties on German rearmament.

Leaders of the Christian Social Union, which is the Bavarian ally of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, said there still was a possibility, however, that the new coalition would fall apart in trying to agree on apportionment of seats in the state cabinet, thus opening the way to new negotiations with the Adenauer party.

Observers pointed out, too, that unlike those from the other German states Bavaria's senators in the Bundesrat are not bound by instructions so that some of them might still vote for rearmament.

This upset in strongly Catholic Bavaria, which has been a heavy supporter of the predominantly Catholic Christian Democrats, occurred as the Bonn government and Allied diplomats were becoming alarmed by a mounting hostility to rearmament in West Germany.

A widespread "count me out" feeling among trade unionists and World War II veterans with respect to conscription and the economic load of rearmament has been pointed out by politicians. Demonstrations against rearmament have occurred recently in three cities, and opponents of rearmament are reported organizing in a score of places.

Beatrice School Model Goes On Display

This is a model typical of the four proposed elementary school buildings for Beatrice. Voters will go to the polls this month to decide the $1,000,000 bond issue. The model above is of West School and would have 22,000 square feet with eight classrooms and a kindergarten. (Star Staff Photo.)

News Around The Globe

PW Comes Home

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A Canadian air force squadron leader, imprisoned two years in Red China, stepped off a commercial airliner here Thursday into the arms of his pretty, blonde wife who sobbed with unashamed joy.

The reunion of A. R. Andy MacKenzie, 34, and his wife, Joyce, 33, was the happy ending to long months of hopes and prayers by them both, and by their four children who remained home in Montreal.

Peress Probed

Governor To Give Wayne-Wakefield Views Next Week

It will be next week before Gov. Robert Crosby is ready with a statement about the highway relocation controversy, he said Thursday.

He is expected to say how far he believes the Highway Commission can go in establishing Highway Department policy. It was set up by the Legislature as an advisory body, rather than an executive, which would have caused members to reside at the Capitol.

The matter came to a head over the proposed relocation of Hwy. 35 between Wayne and Wakefield.

The Highway Department had obtained federal approval for a new location, two miles south of the present route. But the Highway Commission last month voted unanimously that the present route should be retained.

Jury Debates Stiver Verdict

OMAHA (AP)—A federal district court jury of nine men and three women retired at noon Thursday to deliberate the fate of Dewey Dean Stiver, 20, Hooper, Neb., accused of being an accessory after the fact in the daylight robbery of the Citizens' State Bank of Decatur last year.

Final arguments in the case were completed and Judge John Delehant completed his instructions to the jury before noon Thursday.

One additional count against Stiver was dismissed Thursday because the name of the bank involved was incorrectly stated in the original indictment. Another count had been dismissed earlier.

Judge Delehant instructed the jury to consider only whether Stiver was an accessory after the fact by helping to conceal part of the loot and hindering the arrests.

House, Owned By Mother

Testifying on his own behalf Wednesday, Stiver did not deny that he had accompanied Gareth W. Robinson, 22, Wahoo, to a vacant house in Hooper a few days after the robbery.

The house belongs to Stiver's mother. Stiver said under cross-examination that he knew of a hiding place under a loose board in an upstairs room.

Youth Laws 'Inadequate', Dr. Court Says

Dr. Frank Court, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Church, Thursday noon told the Sertoma Club that Nebraska's laws pertaining to juveniles are "just not adequate for our needs of the moment."

The minister also urged that Lincoln create a department of the police given over to the work of juvenile crime prevention, and creation of a "new detention home, with adequate facilities for working with children who are in trouble."

Citing figures from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, Dr. Court said the crime bill costs the United States more per year than is spent by all educational and religious bodies in the country. And 52 per cent of these crimes are committed by juveniles, he said.

The minister urged district judges, the bar association and the Legislature "re-think and re-write" the juvenile laws.

He also cited the work of a governor's committee, which recommended a state-wide probation system, family courts and better standards of qualification for those who are working with juveniles.

Reuther Accuses Ike Of Fraud In Failing To Back Labor Chief

CIO Leader Says Mitchell 'Convenient Window Dressing'

LOS ANGELES (U) — CIO President Walter Reuther Thursday accused President Eisenhower of practicing "political fraud" by failing to back up Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Reuther told the CIO convention Mitchell lacked the standing in Eisenhower's Cabinet enjoyed by Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks.

Mitchell had told the convention in a speech here Tuesday that he condemned "categorically" laws now in effect in 17 states prohibiting unions and employers from negotiating contract clauses to require workers to become union members.

Eisenhower said in his Washington news conference the next day that Mitchell had not necessarily spoken for the administration, although the labor secretary had a right to express his own views.

Political Fraud

Reuther said that if Weeks makes a business policy statement to a convention of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, "You will not find that he is repudiated the next morning by the White House."

"I believe the people of America ought to recognize the political fraud that is taking place in Washington," Reuther said.

"The secretary of labor is not a member of the Cabinet. He is just there as convenient window dressing to make the working people believe they have a voice in the policy-making decisions of our government."

Mitchell had been condemned by other convention speakers for

Ground Water Said Ample If Used Wisely

McCOOK (U) — A conservation official said Thursday a survey shows a "healthy potential" ground water supply in Nebraska, but he warned of the necessity of "careful use of this important resource."

E. C. Reed, Lincoln, director of the conservation survey, division of the University of Nebraska spoke to a joint meeting of the Nebraska Reclamation Assn. and the Nebraska Irrigation Assn.

Reed outlined for the two groups the geological structure of the central Nebraska area.

Fred H. Klietsch, division engineer for the Bureau of Irrigation at Bridgeport, pointed to the abnormal dry conditions in the west as compared to the normal rainfall in the east portion where rivers overflowed this year.

Klietsch said some junior canals in the Kingsley and Sutherland Reservoir areas had been closed for lack of water this year, adding that as the dry weather progressed several senior canals, dating back to 1892, had to be closed.

After July 12, he went on, there was a gradual increase in the flow of natural water. A number of canals, however, remained closed until Sept. 8.

Jack Steele, Lincoln, assistant extension engineer of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, served as moderator at a panel discussion of "Planning and Using the Farm Irrigation System."

Taking part in the discussion were Paul Fischbach, Minden, district extension irrigation engineer for the Agriculture Extension Service; Tom H. Moates, Central City, of the Central Farm Development Co., and Bill Pierce, Kearney, of the Nebraska Irrigation Engineering Co.

The convention winds up Friday after which the reclamation association directors have scheduled a brief meeting.

Help From The Experts

We have no quarrel with the Nebraska State Board of Control over its decision to call in the most outstanding expert on prison management to advise it with reference to the administration of the Nebraska penitentiary.

That has become common, everyday practice. Governing bodies bump into trouble and about the first conclusion they reach is that they need someone imported from the outside—someone with technical background—to tell them what is right and what is wrong. That "someone" is supposedly by virtue of technical qualifications acquired through years of experience and training possesses a knowledge and wisdom denied to most of us. He is a specialist, an individual who has devoted all his time and his energy to discovering the facts which govern a given field.

Now, the Board of Control, with the exception of one of its members, has been on the job and, we assume, in first-hand contact with penitentiary developments nearly as long if not longer than Warden Hann himself. Do the members of the board distrust their own judgment? If they do, then it is a somewhat sad revelation.

We recognize that in the intricacies of administration in connection with prison management today, many problems arise which are not simple in finding the answers. Frequently it appears, however, that a part of the confusion develops because there is no clearcut definition of the purposes of the modern prison. Does it exist for the primary object of rehabilitating the unfortunate wards, and restoring them to a useful role in society? Does it exist for the purpose of protecting society from the lawlessness of lawless individuals who have no respect for their fellow beings? There is no defense for a brutality, no defense for physical conditions in connection with prisons which are a reproach to any reasonable conception of decent treatment for human beings. But the debate or the discussion does not end there at a point upon which all can find agreement. The debate arises, it would seem, because of the many conflicting notions as to what constitutes enlightened, sound prison management. There are those who, though they do not say so, seem to regard rehabilitation as the main objective in connection with the everyday life of those placed behind bars. There are those at the other extreme who insist that punishment and punishment alone is the primary objective in prison administration. Somewhere in between with the recognition that the protection of society furnishes the first answer as to why we have prisons, is the logical, sound definition.

If an expert can tell us how to achieve the balance, then perhaps he may be worthy of his hire.

Education Takes Another Step

The citizens of Crete this week acted affirmatively for improved education. They went to the polls in a special election and approved a $460,000 bond issue for a new high school.

It is significant that in June 1953 the Crete community rejected a new high school proposal by a 3 to 1 vote. But this week 58 per cent of them—enough to make a decisive majority—wanted the new structure.

It is also significant that the present junior high—a building that has served Crete's youth since 1888 will disappear. Of late years it functioned as a junior high. But with the new structure the present high school will take over that service while senior high activities will be transferred to the new building.

The old building served its purpose but it cannot be gainsaid that 66 years is too long for a building to confine and date education—especially American education which lives under an abiding compulsion to change and to grow so that it may keep a practicable working arrangement with a nation which itself is history's greatest example of a growing and developing society.

Crete's constructive action for educational improvement is not exceptional in Nebraska's post-war thinking generally. Rather it is in line with a current trend. It is more of an exception now when a community rejects school improvement.

But it is not any too soon. Nebraska will feel the weight not only of increased educational responsibilities but of actual numbers. There is a wave of children marching toward American schools as a result of the increased post-war birth rate and a determination among American's to enjoy larger families.

It is said that America will have to increase its educational facilities as much in the coming 15 years as it did in the 300 preceding years lest its new children are to suffer seriously.

It will not only require additional structures, but an added teaching force whose presence is not yet before us and whose special training has not yet begun.

It will also require a new and brave approach to plan the financing of this immense movement.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Out at Doniphan in southern Hall County Thursday, Miss Margaret Fanning observed her 102nd birthday. Birthdays have become commonplace for Miss Fanning, an anniversary not different from any other day in the year. Yet in the very fullest sense on Thursday, Miss Fanning could have reflected in grateful spirit upon what we loosely call the zest of living. It has been her privilege, her great good fortune, to have a grandstand seat from which she could gaze out upon the most exciting years civilization has known.

Many millions of people today may think of life as filled with the pressures of the speed and complexities of their years. That is one view of it. There is another. Anyone who has had the opportunity to witness what has taken place since 1900 should not be otherwise than grateful for the sheer joy of living during an era when change was swift and constant. These years, particularly the last 25 years, have been the best of any which any individual might desire to live.

Miss Fanning was born in New York in 1852, two years before Nebraska gained territorial status. Virtually all that lay to the west of the Missouri River was raw, virgin, primitive country, untouched by the plow, uninhabited in the sounds of the towns and cities, a land of great silences but budding, brooding promise. She saw Abraham Lincoln when the martyred President walked down a street in her childhood hometown in Illinois. The official census of 1860 when Miss Fanning was eight years of age gave the United States, such as the nation then was, a population of 31½ million. Now we have grown to a country of more than 160 million men, women and children, but even the assurances of maturity and strength which those figures give in no way serve to measure the wonders of a century.

On her 102nd birthday, Miss Fanning could say that she had seen the miracles of modern medicine unfold, she had seen a free people develop new conceptions of individual social responsibility, she had seen inventive genius flame brightly to completely transform the everyday living habits of an amazing people.

Time has a habit of gliding with gold the earlier years. We look back upon them and in the spirit of reverence we describe them as the "good old days." They were good old days only in the sense that they were a part of uninterrupted progress. They were simple, much simpler than any 24-hour period in this boisterous year of 1954, simple in the physical demands on the individual and even simpler in the beckoning challenge that they raised to his mental horizons. They were the years of settlement, the youthful years, years which thoughtful people readily recognize as presenting less responsibility and fewer burdens. They were the years when satisfaction of physical needs presented about the only day-by-day burdens befalling the individual, yet years even as now of mental and spiritual hunger. We live in a world so completely different from the America of 1900 that no day should close without uttered words of thanks for the exciting challenges of these, our times. They are the best, by far the best, showered upon any of the generations who have had a part in the building of the world's most successful, outstanding democracy.

For a few short years Americans have been privileged to enjoy the accumulation of centuries of trial and error, retaining the good, scrapping the bad, moving irresistibly towards higher standards of human behavior. We may open the day with a sigh and wish for those good old days; at times we may conclude that our unnumbered problems constitute merciless burdens. Fact is, we have been privileged to live five long lives in one lifetime.

McBroom Sweeps Clean

Fortitudo and pleasantness traditionally go together. "Everyone loves a fat man" is another way of putting it. But one Nebraska scale-spinner has had enough of good nature and such. Pound-appeal is out the window. He's determined to reduce grin and girth in like proportion, and he's starting at once.

The rotund resolver is R. Vernon McBroom, Superior's Chamber of Commerce secretary, and he admits to a titillating 210. That meant 210 votes, too, to any girl he would declare for in a local contest in Superior, and the modern-day feminine Shylocks kept his phone busy pleading for political support. That's when Mac decided to go on a diet. He wants to be loved for himself alone, evidently, and not just for the weight he can throw around.

Demos Claim Many GOP Security Risks

WASHINGTON—When the Kansas City Star and its publisher, Roy Roberts, were indicted criminally during the closing days of the Truman administration, almost everyone in politics figured this was one indictment which wouldn't last long when the Eisenhower administration took over.

For it was big, burly Roy Roberts who was among the first to urge Ike for President, and who advised with him during the pre-convention draft-like campaign. Furthermore, Roberts, though under indictment, has been a frequent caller at the White House, has been frequently invited to the intimate stag dinners the President gives to a chosen few.

However, two years have now passed and not only has the indictment against the publisher of the Kansas City Star not been dropped, but the Justice Department plans to begin prosecution early next year.

Thereby hangs a significant story.

The man now in charge of the Justice Department's anti-trust division, Stanley Barnes, a California Republican of the Chief Justice Earl Warren school of political thinking, has turned out to be one of the most forthright members of the Eisenhower administration. He has also turned out to be just as tough on big business and on monopoly as any member of the Roosevelt-Truman administration, even perhaps including famed trust-buster Thurman Arnold.

It's significant that Judge Barnes, a former California state judge, is not playing any political favorites. A close study of the case has convinced him that it was by no means a political indictment brought as a result of rivalry between Harry Truman and Roy Roberts; but rather a bona fide case involving freedom of the press.

So he's proceeding with the prosecution.

REVISING THE NUMBERS GAME

White House advisers aren't publishing it, but they have been busy on a new security program which will head off the Democratic probe of the so-called "numbers game." This is the game in which Vice President Nixon, Attorney General Brownell, and other GOP campaign speakers have claimed Republicans cleaned out Democratic security risks which menaced the government.

The Democrats deny this. And to prove their case, Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, chairman-to-be of the civil service committee, plans a sweeping probe of Republican firings. He believes he can prove that one-half the security risks were hired by Republicans.

To head off this probe, Eisenhower has referred the whole problem to the National Security Council which has already prepared Top Secret Report No. 5437/1 which will not be made public for some time. However, it can be revealed that the report recommends giving a far better break to security risks, plus a standardized procedure for all government agencies, instead of the hit-and-miss divergent systems of firing personnel.

White House advisers are even considering a plan to help the accused pay the cost of defending himself, or else making the cost of defense cheaper. In the past, men like Val Orwin, one of the State Department officials charged by McCarthy with being a Communist, had to raise money from friends to carry on his fight. Though indicted, the Justice Department finally went into court after four long years and asked that the indictment be dismissed on the ground that it had no case.

Similarly, Abraham Chasnov, the Navy clerk suspended for one year as a security risk with no charge placed against him, finally was given an official apology by the assistant secretary of the Navy and restored to his job. Chasnov had no funds, but his attorney, Joe Fanelli, defended him as a public servant.

White House advisers also propose separating bona fide security risks from heavy drinkers, loose talkers, and misfits, hitherto all linked with loyalty cases as security risks.

Here is an illustration of a security risk fired by the Republicans and lumped in the imposing total of alleged "Democratic risks" cleaned out of government. He is John H. MacVey, hired by the Federal Communications Commission on Feb. 19, 1954, one year and one month after he entered office, and one month and eight days after MacVey was released from Gallinger Hospital where he was committed Dec. 27, 1953, by the D.C. commissioner of mental health for what was later called a "psychotic episode."

The records of the District of Columbia show that he previously had two brushes with the law because of alcohol. In each case he forfeited bond.

Policy-Makers Split On Trade Relaxation

WASHINGTON — A struggle is currently going on within the Eisenhower administration over East-West trade and the relaxation of trade barriers with the European Communist bloc, which were approved after lengthy negotiations carried on last summer by Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen.

Influential policy-makers feel that this relaxation went so far as to open the way for the sale to Soviet Russia and her satellites of machinery useful to the Communist nations in building an industrial potential, which is also a war potential. They are insisting that the embargo be tightened so that such equipment as motors and generators—smaller-size motors and generators were removed from the embargo list—can be kept out of East-West trade. These critics say that of the total of more than $600,000,000 in Russian purchases from the West, the bulk has been of machinery vital to the buildup of the Soviet economy.

The debate now going on is directly related to the broader issue of coexistence. There are those in the administration who, while agreeing that the sea-air blockade called for by Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland is a "war action," nevertheless believe that America's vast economic power can be used to checkmate the development of the Communist nations.

In this view the reason that the Communists are putting forward the "peaceful coexistence" line is that they urgently need some years of peace in which they can build up their economies and give their peoples some consumer goods to make them happy. In particular, Communist China, ravaged by the worst floods in 50 years, is in desperate need of time to consolidate the Communist hold on the country.

In high-level discussions Stassen has pointed out that the changes in the embargo list were approved by all government departments. He also has argued that any embargo, to be effective, must recognize realistically the need of America's allies to maintain their economies by selling manufacturing goods which the United States cannot absorb.

To try to shut off the Soviet bloc entirely from the high technology of the West would mean, in the Stassen argument, stationing American troops around the periphery of the entire European Soviet bloc. It is simply impossible to check the currents of trade that

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Of Mice And Men, Barrymore And Brando

By MONA B. PARKER

How is it that the hot-stove league analysts predict a given number of snowfalls for the coming season? Is it by the date of the last storm of the previous season? One publication looked forward to—or perhaps was bracing itself against—19 separate snows. The Clay County Sun heard somewhere that Nebraska and the Midwest would have 22 such weather worries to contend with this winter which, as far as the Sun is concerned, is "far more than most of us as potential snow-scoopers want to see." We may not have to do much scooping with all of them, it concedes glumly, but the worry is there anyway until all 22 have arrived.

R. A. Summers sounds off in the Ulysses Dispatch on modern child psychology. He doesn't lean so far back that he would favor the old-time procedure of "taking the youngsters to the woodshed." On the other hand, he doesn't lean so far forward, either, that he thinks today's children should have a completely free hand, as advocated by some in the cautious theory that "if you do not let them do as they please when they please, you will frustrate them." It's Mr. Summers' parental opinion that "just a little frustration might be good for them."

Virg Hill comments in the Fairbury News on an enthusiastic prediction that Brando will some day become as famous as any of the Barrymores. Immediately, Mr. Hill says, two questions will arise. The older will ask, "Who is Brando?" And the youngsters will want to know, "Who were the Barrymores?"

Donna Embree, Neligh News columnist, takes fashion note of the currently popular yard-long chains worn casually looped around the feminine neck, and which stylists say are the latest out of the French capital. She shrugs editorially, however, at the claim of "newness" for the baubles. In her own days of sloppy Joe sweaters, the gals wore such chains of beads and tied knots in them to indicate to the observer any romantic inclination or status of the wearer. One knot meant "just looking." Two knots meant "dating," and three knots meant "going steady." All of which, Mrs. Embree smiled, was "much in earnest in those days."

Buffalo County claims a tentative second place in a comparatively new agricultural product now under regular planting in the state. The soybean harvest there was exceeded this year probably only by Dodge County. The cut-back in wheat acreages has contributed to an increased interest in beans in that area. One-sixth of the crop, or about 30,000 acres, was grown on irrigated land. Nebraska's 1954 average yield per acre was 21 bushels, well above the national average of 18.7 bushels.

W. H. Plourd, in the Nance County Journal: "Old soldiers just fade away, old newspapers line closet shelves, old jokes get told and retold—and old movies get on television."

News notes for the attention of Arch Jarrell, Grand Island Independent editor whose spouse will grouse at a mouse in the house...

County Agent—Cliff Ashburnoff Franklin County had a supply of poisoned grain stored in the courthouse there for use by the farmers of the county in combating prairie dogs, field mice and other rodents. Inquisitive and hungry court-house mice invaded the supply, and "scarcely made it away from the sack."

Mrs. Leona Scott of Wakefield caught a mouse with a white cross on its back, wondered if it were some new advertising scheme to sell health insurance...

That reminded F. V. Turney of the Wakefield Republican of something that happened in his household. A smallish rodent got into the bathtub and couldn't get out because of the slippery sides. The Turney tots were so fascinated that "I thought for a while I would have to raise the darn thing for a pet."

Boots To Cowpokes

It used to be that when you saw a man in a pair of cowboy boots, you were reasonably secure in the assumption that he knew the difference between a fellock and a latigo strap, and by virtue of experience could distinguish readily between a pastern and a posterior.

To put it another way, the guy usually knew which end of a horse gets up first.

Now comes a photograph in the newspapers of a dude wrangler in a Florida tourist corral who wrestles alligators for the dollars and delight of the transient trade. One guess what the hombre is wearing on his feet? Cowboy boots!

Maybe it's a bull alligator he is wrestling.

At that, this Strangler Lewis of the alligator pits has more excuse for the cattleman's footwear than a lot of the modern medicine show spellers who have degraded it to the status of a stage door affectation. Maybe he needs those high heels to dig into the sand when the 'gator heads for the cane brakes.

The way the show-offs are flocking to the use of the two-story heels and pointed toes of the calf-length cowboy boots makes a man mightily near ashamed to wear a pair, no matter how much affection he might have for 'em. It's getting so every time a man goes into some business like charming snakes, driving toy trains in an amusement park or pulling a little red wagon across the continent for publicity, the first piece of equipment he buys is a pair of cowboy boots.

He usually pays 10 bucks for them and gets bunions as a result. It serves him right, too.

That cattle country footwear was never designed in the first place for the dudes—it was, is and always will be, for the men who know their business, a strictly functional proposition. The sharp toes make it easier to find a flapping stirrup aboard a frisky horse. The upper leather protects the leg from catclaw, mesquite and thorn bushes while riding. The heels prevent the foot from slipping through the stirrup, which can be fatal, and also give the wearer firmer anchorage when he is aground on one end of a rope, with a discontented pony on the other end.

The way things are going, though, men who still do a lot of work around horses and cattle are going to have to find something else to put on their feet, for fear of being mistaken for a guitar player.

It's too bad, too, because cowboy boots—when they fit properly—are about the most comfortable pedal covering ever devised. I'd wear my own more often, except that with someone as long and skinny as I am, there is no use exaggerating the things nature has already done to me.

The fellows who like cowboy boots and wear them for the pure comfort they provide deserve mankind's blessing—but the jasper who puts his pants leg down inside the boots and figures they're a prop to sell some little pink pills deserves something else again, and I know what it is.

He ought to be forced to spend one full day in the saddle, with no cashion to come home to. (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate.)

Eisenhower Forces Lack A Good Slogan

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has excellent connections with Madison Avenue (N.Y.) which is to advertising what Wall Street is to finance. But either he neglected to consult them or they let him down when he adopted progressive-moderate as a campaign slogan for Republicans.

Such tri-syllables fit neither into the headlines nor the human larynx. Galleries which are readily induced to chant "We Want Willie" or "I Like Ike" wouldn't attempt them.

Also the word progressive has been a three-time loser in American politics. Theodore Roosevelt couldn't put it over even when backstopped by that trenchant, red-blooded, monosyllabic slogan, "Bull Moose."

The La Follette succeeded with it in one state—Wisconsin—but Fighting Bob failed with it nationally and the La Follette dynasty did not long outlive him. Its latest appearance was with the Communist-infiltrated party headed by Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor in 1948. The party hardly made a ripple, Wallace has faded away and Taylor, even against a dull and feeble opponent, could not make a comeback last fall in Idaho.

Copy readers often can do something with initials when they are up against what Al Smith used to call "them ten-dollar court of appeals words." But the initials "PM" suggest not the bright, beautiful and hopeful morning but the lagging afternoon.

They might even recall Marshall Field's adventure into New York journalism, the now defunct PM. Its sheer sprightliness endeared PM to many, including those who thought it veered too far to the left. But it is hard to believe these admirers included many Republicans.

It is the reporters, usually, who invent the political catchwords out of their professional compulsion to be interesting, to make the situation clear to the milkman in Kansas City and to hit the headlines. As the internal war between the President and his party develops on Capitol Hill, they may come up with something.

Most Cities Unable To Reach Chest Goals

Only Lincoln, Fremont Meet Their Quotas

By The Associated Press

Dollars to help others through the Community Chest were fewer and farther between in Nebraska this year, an Associated Press survey showed.

Only two of the cities included in the spot check—Fremont and Lincoln—met and surpassed their goal.

In the case of Fremont, it was the ninth consecutive year that the goal had been topped. The drive netted $40,197.91, as compared to a goal of $37,917.21. The goal itself was increased over the 1953 figure by $1,372.21.

Nebraska's largest city, Omaha, failed by more than $50,000. Although money is "still trickling in" only $1,234,869.35 had been raised. The Norfolk goal was $21,000. Eight different agencies will share in the fund.

Thanks to an accumulated fund during the war years, North Platte's nine Community Chest agencies will receive the amounts allocated for their 1955 budgets despite the failure of the chest drive.

Charles Novak, chest president, said $3,227.59 would be taken from a "badly depleted" reserve fund to allow the agencies to operate.

Beatrice, although under its goal by $552.50, contributed the largest sum since 1950 and came the closest in four years to reaching the goal.

Short of Goal

The campaign brought in a total of $32,554 as compared to a goal of $33,106.50.

The goal at Grand Island was $59,000, but only $43,450 has been raised. Last year's goal was $10,000 less than this year and $43,000 was raised.

A five man committee, headed by President Dale Welch of Hastings College, currently is studying the Community Chest program in Hastings and is scheduled to make recommendations on it next week.

Sen. Abel Follows Ike's Suggestion; Drinks More Milk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hazel Abel (R-Neb.) is drinking more milk because President Eisenhower suggested it.

She told a reporter she has substituted a glass of milk for her usual cup of coffee or tea ever since she talked with the President at the White House last Saturday.

She said he told her that if each person in the country would drink 1 1/2 more ounces of milk a day, the surplus would be used.

Mrs. Abel, herself the owner of a 640-acre dairy farm near Lincoln, Neb., said also there is an "I drink milk" sticker on the car the Abel family drives back home.

$20,000 Damages Awarded In Suit

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A District Court jury here awarded $20,000 in damages in the death of a woman killed in a 1953 highway accident near here.

The suit, filed by Otto L. Price as administrator of the estate of Nellie V. Price, had asked $114,948.

Defendants in the suit were Harry King, driver of a pickup truck involved in the accident, and Orville L. Kohn, the truck's owner.

5 Dry Holes, One Producer In West Area

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—"Some oil" has been discovered in a south-western Nebraska wildcat well, Beal No. 2, but that report was coupled with a report of five dry holes.

Of the later, two are in Cheyenne County, two in Banner and one in Kimball.

An official of the firm drilling the Beal well said "minor amounts of oil" were recovered on a drill stem test from 5,449 to 5,527 feet, but it was questionable whether the well would be a commercial producer.

Of the dry holes, British-American Oil Co. had two, Gem Oil Co. reported one, Tex Petroleum Co. had the fifth.

British-American, however, announced a wildcat location, the King B-1, in Morrill County. Gem reported it had staked out the Ackerman No. 1, a wildcat located 11 miles due north of Potter.

GI Mortgage Business Up

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha Veterans Administration officer reports that GI mortgage business handled by the Nebraska office of the VA in the last 12 months is the heaviest since 1947.

Loan guaranty officer Chester Grau told the Omaha Real Estate Board that the Omaha office has had 2,095 applications for mortgage guarantees approved for a value of about 21 million dollars.

That compares with an average of about 10 million dollars a year in the 9 1/2 years the VA has been in the mortgage field, he said.

School Heads Preview Proposed Laws

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's county superintendents were given a preview Thursday of possible school legislation headed for the 1955 Legislature.

A five-member guest panel outlined during a second-day session of the County Superintendents Association's annual meeting being held in Lincoln some of the possible and proposed legislation.

BEFORE YOU COUGH ONE MORE TIME...

Here's Relief So Different for coughs of colds it will change all your ideas about cough syrups!

At last—a new and pleasant cough medicine with a "relief-action" all its own!

Science has combined in a special way a penetrating ingredient with a medicinal formula. The combination means you get more relief—faster, more effectively. This new medicine is named Vicks Medi-Trating Cough Syrup—because it medicates as it penetrates.

VICKS MEDI-TRATING COUGH SYRUP
It Medicates as it Penetrates

Mrs. A. E. Hanneman of Lincoln, steering committee chairman of the Governor's Lay Leadership Committee, told the group that proposed legislation based on the findings and recommendations of that Committee is being drafted.

She noted the Association had endorsed the recommendations of the lay committees as to teacher certificates, school finance and school district reorganization.

Red Willow County Supt. Edna Bratten of McCook said repeal of state law providing for five different teaching certificates is being urged.

Legislation providing for a uniform certificate for all teachers will be proposed, she said. Under such a bill, certification by 1958 would require two years of college training and by 1962 for four years training.

Another panel member said he agreed with press reports that the School Lands "would be the hottest issue" before the Legislature.

John Lynch, field representative of the Nebraska State Education Association, said the NSEA would continue to oppose sale of school lands.

He doubted if any state aid legislation is proposed—in view of the constitutional amendment on the property tax replacement—is introduced.

duced, but this is "not a dead issue."

A severance tax bill, providing for a 2 per cent tax, on all minerals as well as oil and gas, will be re-introduced at the next session, Lynch said.

Lynch also said there's a possibility of a school transportation bill, which "could be a help in expediting school district reorganization."

On the Federal level, 1955 may see the introduction of a school construction and legislation asking for the allocation of $5 billion in aid money over a five to 10 years period.

Glenn I. Anderson, director of State Teacher Retirement System, said Social Security should be used to supplement a retirement plan.

If social security is obtained for teachers, he said, thought should be given to readjustment of their retirement plan as has been done by employees of large corporations.

The panel was moderated by Dr. Neal Gommon, president of Peru State Teachers College.

In the afternoon, a five member panel discussed "Services available to County Superintendents, by colleges offering teacher training." Moderator was Dr. Madison Brewer of the University of Nebraska's Teachers College.

Friday morning, the Association closes its three-day meeting with a discussion of "The job of the County Superintendent" by State Supt. F. B. Decker and staff members.

Education Group To Draft Bills

The Governor's steering committee on education met Thursday and decided to have bills drafted for presentation to the Legislature carrying out resolutions adopted at the Kearney Lay Leadership conference recently.

The bills would deal with re-districting of schools and teacher certification.

The finance resolutions will be the subject of a further conference on Friday, Nov. 17. At that time an attempt will be made to compromise differences between various educational groups.

Surplus Farm Product Investment At Record High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Uncle Sam's investment in surplus farm products stored under price support programs has climbed to a record high of nearly seven billion dollars.

The Agriculture Department reported Thursday that the investment totaled $6,634,107,000 on Oct. 31. Additional commitments since that day, officials said, have pushed the amount close to the seven billion dollar level.

A year ago, the amount was $4,544,897,000.

Included in the investment as of Oct. 31 were $2,525,834,000 in loans advanced to farmers on grains, cotton, tobacco, and other products stored under price support programs and $4,108,273,000 in commodities owned outright by the department's Commodity Credit Corporation.

Losses

Commodities belonging to the department have been acquired through purchases under price support commitments and through surrender of commodities by growers in lieu of payment of price support loans.

The department also reported that it lost $189,924,142 in carrying out price support programs during the July-October period of this year.

This amount compares with $419,477,074 lost during the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Losses are incurred when the department sells commodities for less than it paid for them. This year's losses resulted from sale of surplus dairy products for less than cost.

Major items in the Oct. 31 inventory included: wheat $2,688,700,000, cotton $1,231,942,000 corn $1,167,471,000, butter $326,436,000, tobacco $260,046,000, and cheese $184,164,000.

Crosby To Appoint New Commission Member This Week

Gov. Robert Crosby said Thursday he has received "at least ten" applications from persons interested in appointment to the State Railway Commission to succeed Harold Palmer, who died Sunday.

He said he hoped to announce his selection by the end of this week, but he may go outside the list of applicants.

So far, he added, he was not offered the post to any one.

The appointment will be for almost two years, until the 1956 general election. The office pays $6,000 a year.

The Railway Commission is a three-member body.

Beverly Finke Named Farragut WRC Head

Beverly Finke was elected president of the Farragut Women's Relief Corps No. 10 at the annual meeting.

Other new officers are:

Miss Bessie Irvine, senior vice president; Mrs. Maud Keck, treasurer; Mrs. Lena Fitzgerald, junior vice president; Mrs. Elsie L. Walters, chaplain; Mrs. Ira Horner, conductor and Mrs. Daisy Goldsberry, guard.

Truly Rites Set

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Old-timers of the stage and screen will pay their last respects Friday to Truly Shattuck, toast of a bygone era and central figure in a famous San Francisco murder trial when gallants were drinking champagne out of her golden slippers.

The sands of time ran out for the "girl with the hour-glass figure" last Monday when the 78-year-old trouper died in the Motion Picture Country House and Hospital. In better days she appeared on the screen with such luminaries as Rudolph Valentino, Douglas MacLean and Bebe Daniels, among others.

Dead GI Found On Okinawa Isle

FORT BUCKNER, Okinawa (Friday) (INS)—The Army announced that the body of an American soldier was found near a U. S. Army housing area on Okinawa Island.

The body was discovered by native workmen in an open field hidden by tall grass. Military police said death was believed caused by a gunshot wound in the head. A weapon was found nearby.

Positive identification, the Army said, would take some time because of the condition of the body.

50,000 Suffering

KANSAS CITY (INS)—A Poplar Bluff, Mo., physician reported there are probably 50,000 children, aged one to six years, with gastric ulcer.

Dr. W. E. Henrickson, writing in GP magazine, published monthly by the American Academy of General Practice, adds that peptic ulcer no longer is rare among children. He blames hectic family life, which he says may cause even infants to suffer the disease.

Fighting Fish May Aid Study Of Schizophrenia

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
WASHINGTON (U)—Tiny Siamese fighting fish—cultured by Asiatics for centuries—as a sport—may provide a new aid in the study of schizophrenia.

Two scientists reported Thursday that a new drug-testing technique employing such aquatic scoundrels opens possibilities of determining whether there is a body chemical cause for this major mental disease in humans.

Chemical Abnormality?

Schizophrenia, or "split personality," is one of the worst forms of mental illness, and some researchers have long theorized that it may result from some subtle chemical abnormality within the body.

Drs. H. A. Abramson and L. T. Evans of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., reported production of "trance-like" and other slowed-down behavioral effects in the fighting fish by giving them minute doses of a drug called lysergic acid diethylamide—nicknamed "LSD 25." They made their report in the technical journal "Science."

Drug Used

This same drug, they said, already has been used by other researchers to produce temporarily a "schizophrenia-like state" in certain normal people—with the objective of learning more about the affliction.

But one impediment to the latter research, they indicated, is the difficulty of detecting the drug in urine and other bodily fluids after it is administered—detection which would provide a better gauge of the effects of the substance.

Detect Drug

They said the new testing method with the fish opens up the possibility not only of detecting the drug in the urine of normal people given the drug experimentally "but also of studying the urines of clinically schizophrenic patients for chemical agents occurring naturally, which might be the cause of clinical schizophrenia: in man."

Doctors of the National Institutes of Health who have been administering LSD 25 to a few research volunteers, told a reporter that an accurate urine test "would aid immeasurably" in such studies.

The NIH scientists said the drug produces certain of the manifestations seen in schizophrenic patients, but there are also certain marked differences. Also, the drug does not produce effects in all normal people—and one of the purposes of the research is to find out why.

Denmark Cuts Draft Time To 16 Months

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (U)—Denmark, one of the NATO nations, announced Thursday it is reducing the period of compulsory military service from 18 to 16 months. The reduction, effective at once, was described as part of an economy drive.

Earlier this year Belgium and The Netherlands reduced such service from 20 to 18 months. The United States requires two years of most draftees.

Curious Postman Jailed For 10 Years Of Peeking

BAYONNE, France (U)—A court sentenced Paul Fayet, 52, a postman, to eight months in prison Thursday after finding that:

For 10 years he had taken five letters a day from his bag of mail. He picked them at random. The ones he found interesting he kept. The others he tore up in little pieces.

Motive? Not blackmail, not money, said the judge. Just plain curiosity.

Expert To Survey Nebraska Penal Institutions

... Famed Penologist Sanford Bates Will Make Study

Sanford Bates, internationally recognized authority on penology, has agreed to come to Nebraska and make a survey of penal institutions. Chairman W. H. Diers of the Board of Control announced Thursday.

"We wrote to obtain his services on Nov. 10, immediately after the governor's committee made its report, which I think answers charges that we have been 'dilly-dallying,'" Diers asserted.

"Let's be fair. The committee required five months to assemble its information and make a decision. They want us to act in five days. We have again as much material because we have received as much pre-administration information as they gave us against it."

No Date Set

Thomas Dredla, who has been handling the correspondence with Bates, expressed the opinion that the penologist did not want to enter on his duties to the playing of "brass bands" but in a business like manner. He said no date has been mentioned for Bates arrival.

Bates now resides in Trenton, N.J., and is teaching in New York University and acting as a consultant on penology. He has completed similar surveys in Texas and Oregon. He is also a consultant to New York officials.

Bates was a warden in Massachusetts before being appointed director of the Bureau of Prisons for the Federal Government in 1929 serving until 1933 at which time President Roosevelt appointed him U.S. representative on the International Prison Commission.

Headed Conferences

The New Jersey penologist has been president of both the American and international prison conferences and has been consulted and honored by several countries.

In addition to his penology background, Bates is a lawyer and author. He has written books on juvenile delinquency, parole and not to parole and the significance of prison riots.

Added to his other achievements Bates has many degrees granted him by various universities.

Gov. Robert Crosby said he favored the employment of Bates and thought it would be beneficial. He explained that new information and ideas could be obtained.

He said he was opposed to a survey by prison wardens such as was used in South Dakota because he feared that friendship might enter their decisions.

Improvement Seen

Meanwhile, Chairman Diers said he looks for much improvement at the Penitentiary when the new 250-man dormitory for trustees is occupied.

It may be possible to move into the new building, which is inside the fence but outside the wall, by the end of the month.

The new building will accommodate about a third of the institution's present population.

"It is my hope that completion of this dormitory for trustees will do much to relieve the overcrowded conditions that have existed at the Nebraska penitentiary," Diers declared.

"One To A Cell"

He said removal of the trustees to the new dormitory would provide "practically one-cell occupancy" inside the wall.

More than one man to a cell is not good in an institution of this kind," Diers commented.

Diers and Vice-Chairman Thomas Dredla of Crete said there has not been much discussion with warden Herbert Hann about Hann's suggestion that the present "jail" building at the penitentiary be replaced with a modern structure.

But as for Hann's proposal that there should be a separate exercise yard for the incorrigibles who have to be kept in segregation, Diers declared:

"That I will agree to."

New Social Security Law Gives Special Break To Two Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—In addition to increasing benefits and expanding coverage, the new social security law gives a special break to two groups likely to need help the most.

It permits social security beneficiaries to earn more money on their own and still draw all or part of their social security benefits.

And it provides bigger benefits to workers who have been totally disabled over a long period of time. But they don't get these benefits until they reach age 65.

By helping the worker who is covered directly by social security, the new law also helps their dependents and survivors; because dependents' and survivors' benefits are based on the benefit earned by the worker.

Here is how the two new provisions will work:

RETIREMENT TEST

The theory of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance system (OASI) is that monthly benefits are paid only upon the retirement or death of the family wage earner. So the law has included a test to determine whether a worker really has retired.

Under the old law, a person from 65 to 75 lost his social security benefit for any month in which he earned $75 or more. Thus a person could, say, earn $80 a month for three months during the summer vacation period; and although his total annual earnings were only $240, he would lose three months' social security benefits. At age 75 or over, a person got his benefits regardless of his earnings.

The new law, first, lowers the exempt age to 72. Loss of benefits for those between 65 and 72 depends on how much they earn and how many months they work.

They may draw all their social security benefits if they earn $1,200 a year or less. The test is applied on an annual basis, instead of monthly, so an aged person can earn $400 a month for three months or $600 for two months, and still not lose any retirement benefits.

Further, the new law says a person working every month will lose only one month's benefit for each $80 earned above $1,200 a year. So a "retired" person can earn $1,280 and lose only one month's benefit, $1,360 and lose two months or up to $2,080 and lose 11 months. No benefits can be paid a person working year round for more than $2,080.

Full Benefits

However, you can't lose your benefit for any month in which you (1) did not earn more than $80 in wages, or (2) render substantial services in self-employment. Thus if you earned $10,000 a year, but didn't work for four months, you could still get your social security benefits for those four months.

In defining work under this section, the old law included only work covered by social security. Thus a man could earn any amount in non-covered work and get full benefits. The new law embraces all kinds of work, although it doesn't count income from investments such as dividends, pensions or insurance policies.

Families are affected too. If a retired worker is ineligible for benefits in any one month, his dependents also are ineligible. A surviving widow or widower loses monthly benefits according to her earnings, just as a retired worker does; but surviving children under 18 get their benefits anyhow.

DISABLED PERSONS

Social security benefits are based upon average monthly earnings. If a worker becomes totally disabled for a long period of time, his earnings of course are reduced. But under the old law, average earnings had to be figured from a certain starting date until the worker became 65 or died. Thus disabled persons had their benefits greatly reduced, or sometimes eliminated.

Under the new law, a worker can "freeze" his average earnings at the time he becomes disabled. The idle period will not count against him and he will be eligible for full benefits based upon the period he actually worked.

To qualify, a disabled person must work under social security for 5 out of the 10 years before he becomes disabled, and he also must work 18 months out of the three years before he becomes disabled.

Persons already on the benefit rolls, whose payments have been reduced because they had as much as six months disability in the past, can get their benefits increased under the new provision if they are still disabled. The first increases will be paid in July 1955.

CHRISTMAS TREE MORNINGS

THIS is the season when every morning is a Christmas tree morning with gay packages of news tucked all around — We have news of Christmas home-comers, Christmas guests, Christmas travelers—and news of holiday brides and their courtships—

THINK we'll begin the day with news of parties for the brides-elect—the tea next Thursday, for instance, when Mrs. Mariel Jones and Mrs. Lucy Husted entertain in pre-nuptial courtesy to a bride—and two brides-elect. Sharing honors at the 3:30 o'clock to 5 o'clock party which will be held at the home of Miss Jones, will be Mrs. Jack Wells, Miss Sue Chambers and Miss Sarah Fulton.

Miss Chambers, as we have told you before, will become the bride of Thomas Leonard in late December—and Miss Fulton has chosen Dec. 28 for her marriage to William Ginn of Omaha.

ON Tuesday, Dec. 21, Miss Chambers will be the honoree when Mrs. Curtis C. Kimball is a brunch hostess at her home—

AND that afternoon (Dec. 21) Miss Chambers will again share honors with Miss Fulton and Mrs. Wells when Mrs. J. E. M. Thompson and Mrs. James Mac Woodward, are 3 o'clock-to-5:30 o'clock hostesses at the home of Mrs. Thomson.

YESTERDAY we told you about the party for which Mrs. C. L. Clark was hostess on Thursday evening when she entertained in courtesy to Miss Sally Warren, whose marriage to Robert Messner of Omaha will take place on Dec. 18.

This evening Miss Warren will again be honored when Mrs. N. Richard Miller is a shower hostess at her home—

AND on Sunday morning Mrs. Arthur A. Whitworth and her daughter, Miss Marion Whitworth, will compliment Miss Warren when they are hostesses at a brunch at their home.

OUR Christmas travelers include Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Watson, their son, Frank, and a certain French Poodle who is the pet of the Watson household—The Watsons are leaving Saturday for Havana, Cuba where they will spend the holiday season—

On New Year's day, however, Mr. and Mrs. Watson and Frank will be in Miami where they will watch the Nebraska-Duke game in the Orange Bowl.

THEN we heard that Mrs. Paul Pfisterer and her two month-old daughter, Lori Ann, will sail from New York City tomorrow, and will be in Austria in time to spend Christmas with Lt.

Pfisterer who is stationed there.

Mrs. Pfisterer is the former Donna Folmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Folmer.

MAYBE we won't be able to finish our long "home-for-Christmas" list this morning—but we'll get it all told tomorrow — just in case—

First we heard that Mr. and Mrs. John V. Whitten and their children, Johnny and Kathy, will be coming to spend the Christmas week-end with their families, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Whitten — and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest U. Guenzel.

SOMEONE told us, too, that Jane Foster Gavin plans to come from Evanston, Ill., to spend the Christmas week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earle Foster—

AND from Harlingen, Tex., are coming Lt. and Mrs. Douglas R. Dale (Sally Mallory) who will be the holiday guests of Mrs. Dale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallory—

Lt. and Mrs. Dale will arrive on Dec. 23—the same day that Miss Mary Helen Mallory, who is "career-ing" in Chicago, arrives for the Christmas week-end.

To Entertain Alumnae Club

Mrs. Frank Henzlik will entertain the members of the Lincoln Alumnae Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha at the group's annual Christmas party Saturday evening. The party will begin with a 6 o'clock dinner and will be held at the Henzlik home, 2345 Bradford.

A program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. John Karnett and Miss Leila Johnson, and assisting Mrs. Henzlik as hostesses will be Mrs. Wesley Antes, Mrs. Madison Brewer and Miss Johnson.

We Hear That

Going to Omaha on Saturday will be Mrs. C. M. Stewart, president of the Soroptimist Club International of Lincoln, who will attend the "Governor's highway safety conference" at the Fontenelle Hotel. Mrs. Stewart will speak on the national Carol Lane Awards for Women presented by the National Safety Council.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Crancer are the parents of a son, John Douglas Jr., born on Wednesday, Dec. 8, at Lincoln General Hospital. Mrs. Crancer is the former Carol Schuck, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Schuck of Lincoln. The baby's paternal grandfather is Ray Crancer of Denver, Colo., formerly of Lincoln.

The Brides' Book Says:

Last Monday evening Mrs. Gail Ingwerson and her sister-in-law, Miss Betty Ingwerson, were hostesses at a surprise party and shower when they honored a January bride-elect, Miss Jo Anne Drake. Twenty-five guests were invited for an informal evening and the surprise miscellaneous shower.

Miss Drake, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Drake, has chosen Sunday, Jan. 16, as the date of her marriage to Merwin Frohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Frohn of Martell.

The wedding will take place at the Village Church in Prairie Home.

In pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Virginia Lee Hendee and her fiancé, Julius J. Robertson of Houma, La., a group of friends entertained at a surprise shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Inselman. The forty guests included members of the bridal party and family as well as neighbors and friends.

For her wedding, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock, Saturday evening, Dec. 11, at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Miss Hendee has chosen Mrs. Charles Tropholz as her matron of honor and only attendant, and serving Mr. Robertson as best man will be Lawrence Inselman.

Miss Gwen Marie Reich, who will become the bride of Donald Searcy on Saturday, Dec. 18, has announced that her maid of honor will be her sister, Miss Donita Reich. Mrs. Donald Weber will be the matron of honor and the bridesmaids will include Miss Beverly Brehm and Miss Bertha Novak.

Lighting the candles preceding the wedding, which will take place at Immanuel Reformed Lutheran Church, will be Miss Nadyne Snyder and Miss Sharon Brehm.

Donald Wanek will serve Mr. Searcy as best man, and the ushers will be Melvin Brydle, Bill Clemans and Norman Bouchal.

On Tuesday evening, the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. Don Searcy, entertained at her home in courtesy to Miss Reich. Thirty-five guests were invited for a dessert supper and a miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-to-be.

Junior League Dinner-Dance

Completing final plans for the annual dinner-dance of the Junior League of Lincoln are members of the organization's provisional group, Mrs. Gene Eaton, Miss Sarah Fulton, Mrs. Jack Trombla, Miss Marion Whitworth, Mrs. Sidney Bradley, Mrs. Jack Phillips, Mrs. Ted Frazier and Mrs. Bruce Fullerton.

Mrs. R. K. Alloway, representing the active league, is general chairman for the dance which will be held Saturday evening, Dec. 18, at the Lincoln Country Club.

Nurses' Group Plans Dinner

The Practical Nurses' Association, division III, will hold its annual Christmas party Tuesday evening, in the Chinese room of the Lincoln Hotel. Each member is asked to bring a $1 gift for the exchange, and reservations must be made by Saturday.

In charge of reservations for the 6:30 o'clock dinner is Mrs. F. W. Schroeder, 5-1081.

Christmas Party Held

Mrs. Jan F. Carter was hostess at home Wednesday evening when the nurses of the obstetrical staff at Bryan Memorial Hospital held their annual Christmas party. The 12 guests spent the evening hours informally and a gift exchange was held.

GOP Chief Hall Says Joe's Blast Will Benefit Ike

President To Find 'Even Greater Unity'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said confidently Thursday that President Eisenhower will benefit from the attack made on him by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Hall was replying to a question which had been asked Eisenhower at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower had referred it to Hall. It asked: "In what appears to be a declaration of war by McCarthy, what danger do you see to the Republican party?"

The party chairman replied in a statement:

"There was no doubt in my mind as to the answer. However, to confirm my own opinion, I deliberately delayed one day in issuing this statement so that I might personally check key Republican leaders around the country and take a representative sample of Senate and House opinion."

Broader Scale
"Some Republican members of Congress had already publicly stated their views. It is noteworthy that they almost uniformly and unhesitatingly went to the support of President Eisenhower, even though they took differing positions on the McCarthy issue in the recent Senate proceedings."

"My own survey confirmed this on a much broader scale and it convinced me that the President will find even greater unity and support among Republican members of both the Senate and House during the next two years. This is the only real measure of party unity, and the public in the coming months will have an opportunity to verify my findings."

"I am equally certain that the overwhelming majority of the American people, both Republicans and Democrats alike, will continue to give the President and the Republican program their support, and in even greater measure than before."

McCarthy made his declaration Tuesday. It said Eisenhower had displayed a "shrinking show of weakness" toward Red China, while congratulating those senators McCarthy accused of holding up his efforts to expose Communists at home.

'Shooting At Me'
Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a friend of McCarthy, reported he tried to head off the statement and told McCarthy before he made it: "Everybody knows Ike is not for the Communists."

He said McCarthy persisted, saying: "They're shooting at me down there and I've got to say something." By "down there" McCarthy apparently meant the White House, where on last Saturday Eisenhower congratulated Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for the way he handled the job of chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy for his conduct.

Mundt was one of the senators on the losing side when the Senate voted 67-22 to condemn McCarthy's actions.

High Court Rule Called 'Backward'

Hugh Reed, of the National Probation and Parole Association warned Thursday night that Nebraska is taking a "backward step" in handling juvenile court cases.

Speaking at the YWCA, Reed said that a new rule handed down by the State Supreme Court will place children's cases back in the "formal atmosphere of adversary proceedings and crowded courtrooms."

The court ruled that there must be a more formal procedure in handling juvenile cases in courts, in order to protect the right to "due process of law," he said.

But "the hot issue," he said, is the problem of juvenile detention. "There are an estimated 400,000 juveniles detained every year in the United States," Reed said.

Detention homes should not be "a dumping ground for other agencies nor be a punitive program," Reed said.

A detention home "gets a disturbed child at his most disturbed period," he said.

A good detention home needs psychiatric, school and recreational programs, he said.

Reed told the audience that "a good detention home is no better than a good jail unless you bring in a program."

In small detention homes, such as Lincoln's, which are unsecured, Reed said the most important thing is to have competent people running the home who know how to handle the situation.

Reed is in Lincoln at the request of the Mayor's committee on juvenile delinquents. He is a former probation officer and was U.S. Navy officer in charge of all naval prisons.

Oklahoma Aggies May Receive Bid

By SKIPPER PATRICK
KANSAS CITY (AP)—The matter isn't on the agenda but chances are the Big Seven faculty will devote a major part of its regular session here Friday and Saturday to a proposal that would admit Oklahoma A. and M. to the conference.

Executive Secretary Reaves Peters of the Big Seven said the faculty meeting would be devoted to "routine" matters of the conference. He explained, however, subjects not on the agenda could be considered by mutual consent of the faculty group.

Rumors have been afloat for weeks that Oklahoma A. and M. of Stillwater, long time power of the sprawling Missouri Valley Conference, would be admitted to the Big Seven at the meeting. No one in an official position with the conference, however, will confirm or deny that such a proposal is in the offing.

If the Big Seven is in the mood to expand its association, this week end would appear the opportune time. Presidents and controllers of the member schools are scheduled to meet here Saturday. A 3/4 vote of the presidents, which adds to six votes, is necessary to admit a new member.

Athletic business managers of the conference held their annual session Thursday devoted to finances and tickets.

Athletic directors of the conference meet this morning. The faculty session follows at noon.

Controllers of Oklahoma A. and M. have been invited to attend the meetings Saturday. Peters said they were invited because of "mutual state school problems."

Belting Catcher Named For Second Time By AL

NEW YORK (AP)—Larry Yogi Berra, the New York Yankees' slugger, Thursday became the sixth two-time winner of the American League's most valuable player award.

In a close vote of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Assn., Berra edged a pair of Cleveland Indians, outfielder Larry Doby and second baseman Bobby Avila.

The Yankee catcher also was named most valuable in his league in 1951. He is the first repeater since Boston's Ted Williams took the award in 1946 and 1949. Berra placed second to Al Rosen of Cleveland in last year's voting.

Berra's first reaction was one of disbelief.

"What about those Cleveland fellows? They had some pretty good ones out there."

"I'm real happy and I'm really surprised. I knew I was being mentioned," Berra said, "but I didn't really think I'd get it this time."

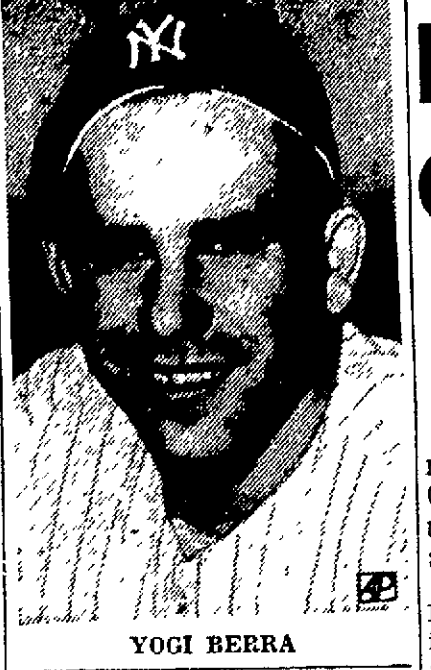

Since the baseball writers took over the most valuable selection in 1931, two players have been given the honor three times and three others before Berra have won it twice. The three-time winners were Jimmy Foxx in 1932, '33 and '38 and Joe DiMaggio in 1939, '41 and '47. The other repeaters were Hank Greenberg, 1935 and '40, Hal Newhouse, 1944-45 and Williams.

Berra was placed first on seven of the 24 ballots and polled a total of 230 points. None of the 24 writers—three from each American League city, placed him lower than sixth on the list. Each voter lists 10 choices in order and points are scored 14 for each first place vote, nine for second and on down on an 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Doby, who led the league in home runs, took second place with 210 points and Avila third with 203. Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of the Chicago White Sox was fourth with 186 and Cleveland's Bob Lemon, top pitcher in the voting, fifth with 178.

Huge 108-69 Defeat Dealt To Plainsmen

Lincoln Star Special
WHEATON, Ill.—The Wheaton College Crusaders smashed a school free-throw scoring record and buried undefeated Nebraska Wesleyan here Thursday night 108-69.

The Crusaders, searching for a first victory after three straight defeats, dropped 58 gits shots and led the Plainsmen after taking the lead early in the first period of a rugged game.

All Wesleyan starters fouled out and the Nebraskans committed 41 personal fouls against the sharp-shooting Illinois squad.

Mel Sheary hit a field goal and Paul Fredstrom dropped two free throws for a 4-0 Wesleyan lead in the early moments, but the Crusaders tied it a minute later.

Wesleyan again led at 11-9 in the first period, but Wheaton got 10 consecutive points and started to pull away from the Nebraskans who were playing their first road game of the season after two straight home triumphs.

Captain Dick Helm, a 6-0 guard, led the Illinois team to a 45-29 lead as he drove through the Wesleyan defense for lay-ups. Forward Jerry Miller was hitting one-hand shots from outside as the Crusaders built the score.

Wesleyan rallied briefly in the second half when Sophomore Jerry Holland, a 6-4 center from Wisner, entered the game and began to hit the basket.

Holland got five goals and three free throws for 13 points. Wheaton widened its lead in the second half as the Nebraskans continued to foul and the Crusaders continued to connect from the free-throw line.

The Crusaders hit 45 per cent of their field goal attempts in the second half after trailing the Plainsmen from the field in the first two quarters.

Wesleyan got 22 field goals and the Crusaders 25, but the Plainsmen hit only 25 free throws while the Illinois team got that 58 out of 73.

Decision Today On Omaha--AA

Announcement Set After St. Louis Huddle To Consider Offer By WL
By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Omaha's American Association ambitions may be realized this morning. The Associated said Thursday night Omaha Cards' Business Manager Bill Bergesch asked newsmen to come to the office of Mayor John Rosenblatt at 9 a.m. today for an announcement.

Late Thursday afternoon St. Louis Cardinal executives huddled in St. Louis in an effort to reach a decision on whether to accept the Western League asking price for the Omaha territory.

Earlier Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, governor-elect of Colorado and president of the Western League, announced that WL chiefs finally had reached a unanimous decision to allow Omaha to depart from the loop and that a price had been set.

Johnson said the league had "cleared the way" for Omaha to enter the American Association, and that he had sent "a firm offer" to the parent Cards in St. Louis, stating the Western price for the loss of Omaha.

Bill Walsingham Jr., vice president of the St. Louis National League club, contacted by The Star, acknowledged the receipt of the Western League offer, but said no decision had been reached early Thursday night.

"It could happen any moment," Walsingham said. "I've got to talk to a couple of people and a meeting will be held, probably within a couple of hours."

"I'd say that a definite decision—either acceptance or rejection—should be announced within 24 hours."

Both Sen. Johnson and Walsingham declined to reveal what price the Western League requested for the loss of Omaha. But it is certain that the WL directors' last figure is in excess of $50,000.

Originally, the Western had asked $100,000 and the most recent Cardinal offer in the negotiations is believed to have been $45,000.

Indemnities
If the St. Louis Cardinals accept the Western price and transfer their Columbus franchise in the Association to Omaha, there still remains the question of indemnities for the loss of Denver.

Sen. Johnson said Thursday that "the Denver deal is still up in the air, and a five-member arbitration board probably will have to be appointed to decide how much the Association must pay the Western League for the latter's largest and best-drawing city."

This, however, may not come to pass and the negotiation method may be tried again in an effort to reach an agreement without resorting to the draft and arbitration board.

It is reliably reported that George Trautman, minor league boss, doesn't want the Western League-Denver controversy to reach an arbitration board and would rather see the Association and the WL seek a settlement via negotiation—which has already been tried without success.

Objections
Objections to the arbitration settlement are that it has never been tried before and that the board would obviously be rigged in favor of the American Association, thus insuring the Western of the short end of the deal.

The board's membership—as announced by Trautman at Houston—would include Sen. Johnson, Bob Howsam, owner of the Denver club; Ed Doherty, president of the American Association and a representative of the New York Yankees.

This stacks up as 3-1 in favor of the Association and it is believed that Trautman desires the reopening of negotiations and a revision of the baseball law.

Unanimous Western League approval on Omaha—which was necessary—was achieved when John Holland, general manager of the Des Moines Bruins, tossed in the sponge. Holland has been fighting desperately to preserve the eight-team Western. He alone held out when the others gave up hope of keeping Omaha—after Denver was drafted by the Association and the Howsam's of Denver bought the New York Yankees' Kansas City franchise.

According to the Associated Press, Holland said he would not have given in to a change for Omaha "if there had been a good eighth city available."

"I wanted to draft Albuquerque when we had the chance, but nobody would go along with me."

Apparently Colorado Springs had been fighting the Omaha loss, too, but the Sky Sox bosses gave in a short time before Holland surrendered.

If the Denver question is settled and the St. Louis put Omaha in the Association, thus leaving the Western a six-team league, there is every probability that the WL will operate in 1955 with the remaining six. At least that has been indicated by the directors.

Fairbury JC Is Handed 99-55 Loss

Lincoln Star Special
ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—Fairbury, Neb., Junior College stayed even for 12 minutes Thursday night, but then fell apart as St. Joseph Junior College romped to a 99-55 win.

The Nebraskans were leading 21-18 after 12 minutes but by the time the first half ended the home team was in front, 47-27.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's football opponent in the Orange Bowl—the Duke Blue Devils—have compiled an impressive record on the gridiron.

In the last 25 years, Duke has been a power, not only in the south but in the United States, and the Blue Devils have the sixth best record of any team in the country.

Glenn E. (Ted) Mann, Duke publicist, supplies us with some interesting information, which we will pass on.

Since 1933, the Blue Devils have won or tied for the Southern Conference or Atlantic Coast Conference title 12 times.

Duke University's selection to play in the Orange Bowl will mark the fourth time a Duke team has played in a bowl game.

The Blue Devils' first appearance in a post-season game was in Pasadena on Jan. 2, 1939. They were undefeated, untied, and unscored on in nine games.

The two teams staged a great defensive battle for three quarters, but early in the fourth period Tony Ruffa kicked a 24-yard field goal which gave the Blue Devils a 3-0 lead. With 40 seconds to go in the game Doyle Nave passed 18 yards to Al.

LEO JONATHAN
'Beauty Boy' On Mat Card

"You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby" might well be the theme song of fans of wrestler Don Leo Jonathan, who has signed to appear in Lincoln Friday, Dec. 17.

Jonathan was once picked as one of "America's most sparkling youngsters." A Mormon transplanted to Hollywood, he appeared in several "Our Gang" roles as a child.

Now 21, he's still a beautiful boy to his followers. He's 6-5, weighs 255 pounds and has what Hollywood movie scouts call a "boyish" face. He has appeared in several movies as a lumberjack—only natural since he once was a logger.

Don Leo learned wrestling from his father, called Brother Jonathan, a wrestling star from Salt Lake City. After a hitch in the Navy he returned to the professional wrestling career he had started at the age of 18.

Jonathan's opponent and the remainder of the card will be announced later, Prof. Adam Krieger said.

Bill McGowan Dies; Famous Majors Umpire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bill McGowan, the most durable umpire in major league history, died Thursday after suffering his second heart attack in less than a week. He was 58.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, saluted McGowan as "one of the all-time greats of his profession."

Clark Griffith, the 85-year-old owner of the Washington Senators, went a step further. He called McGowan "the greatest baseball umpire I ever saw."

The peppery little McGowan retired earlier this year after illness cut short his career. He had been an American League umpire for 30 years and had set a record that will be difficult for anyone to equal.

Alliance: Sept. 15 through 24; no racing Monday, Sept. 19; eight days.

Dates were set after the commission had met here Tuesday and Wednesday to hear and consider applications.

In an effort to improve the caliber of racing in the state, the commission ruled that "no horse over 12 years of age and no maiden over 6 years of age will be permitted to race in Nebraska." A maiden horse is one that hasn't won a race.

Representatives of Stanton and Albion appeared before the commission seeking information about possible pari-mutuel harness horse racing at their fairgrounds.

No racing dates were requested and no official action was taken.

Pari-mutuel harness horse racing would be something new in Nebraska, Boomer said.

An All-American's Reward

Wisconsin's Alan Ameche, standing behind the Heisman Memorial Trophy presented him in New York Thursday, receives a kiss from his wife, Yvonne.

The solid, 210-pound senior who established an NCAA career record of 3,212 rushing yards, also has two children. Picked as the outstanding college player of 1954, Ameche isn't much concerned about injuries. He said, "Yvonne worries. She gets too tense before a game." (AP Wire-photo.)

Five Class Cage Tourney 'Doubtful'

The possibility that there will be five classes rather than the usual four at the state basketball tournament next March seemed doubtful Thursday night after a meeting of the Representative Assembly of the Nebraska School Activities Association.

The Assembly, the body which has been called on to vote on the proposal that a Double A class be established, decided Thursday night to hold its vote until 9 a. m. this morning in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Opinions of various members suggested that the proposal will be vetoed Friday.

Two plans—each enlarging the state basketball tournament from four to five classes—were submitted Nov. 12 for the vote of the Assembly at the present meeting.

One plan, submitted by the legislative commission of the association, would establish a Double A class of the 16 largest schools in the state based on male enrollment. The next 16 schools would fall into Class A, the next 64 into Class B, the next 128 into Class C, and the next 256 into Class D.

The other plan, submitted by delegates of District II, would differ from the first plan only in the placement of 32 schools in Class A.

Opinion among those interviewed delegates—all schoolmen—suggested that the plans will not be accepted principally because they do not solve the problem of a prolonged tournament which takes students away from their studies for a longer period than many educators deem desirable.

71 Pct. Success Is Reported During Five-Day Deer Season

Nebraska deer hunters scored a better than 71 per cent success in the five-day season which ended Wednesday, the state game commission reported Thursday.

Checking stations counted a total of 2,138 kills, as compared with 3,000 permits issued. Late checks may boost the figure somewhat, it was said.

Oddly, the heaviest bag came on the season's final day.

A commission spokesman said the fact both sexes of deer could be taken on that day probably accounted for the increased kill. Some observers said many hunters waited until the final day, when does were fair game, to make their try.

The Crawford deer checking station got the most business with 439 deer run through during the five days. Gering was next with 342.

Other station totals included Harrisburg 86, Bridgeport 236, Oshkosh 168, Sidney 108, Kimball 82, Hemingford 182, Harrison 90, Chadron 225 and Rushville 180.

Only Districts 1 and 2, made up of western and northwestern counties, were open during the five-day season which began last Saturday.

The next deer hunt will be a five-day season starting Saturday in the two districts embracing northern and northeastern Nebraska. Five hundred permits have been issued in each of these districts.

Bannister Quits World Competition

LONDON (AP)—Roger Bannister, first man to break the four-minute mile, announced Thursday night he is retiring from international competition.

Bannister, who ran the mile in 3:59.4 at Oxford last May to become the most acclaimed athlete of the year, recently qualified as doctor.

John Landy of Australia later bettered that time with 3:58.0 in Finland last June, but Bannister defeated Landy when they met face-to-face in the "miracle mile" at Vancouver Aug. 5. Both men broke four minutes with Bannister winning in 3:58.8.

Roy Cohn's Guard Superiors Disciplined

... Ex-Prober Excused From Drills

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS)—The New York state National Guard announced Thursday night that disciplinary action has been taken against Lt. Roy M. Cohn's military superiors for excusing the former assistant to Sen. Joseph McCarthy from training sessions.

Brig. Gen. William H. Kelly, adjutant general of New York, said in a prepared statement that Cohn, a lieutenant in the Guard's New York City selective service section, had been excused from some weekly training sessions while serving as chief counsel to the U.S. Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee headed by McCarthy.

Kelly said a review of the case showed Cohn's absences were permitted through "error in judgment, interpretation and administration" of National Guard Regulations.

Not Named
However, he said, "there is no evidence of willful intent to evade regulations or to draft privileges" or the part of Cohn or his superior officers, who were not named in the report.

Kelly added: "Corrective administrative measures have been instituted to prevent recurrence (of such absences) and disciplinary action has been taken where circumstances warrant."

The National Guard had announced during the Army-McCarthy hearings that Cohn's National Guard service was being investigated.

Kelly said Thursday's announcement was made because of inquiries about the review.

POPE PIUS IS MUCH BETTER

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Medical experts announced Thursday night Pope Pius XII is gaining strength, his hiccups have ceased and his general condition has improved perceptibly.

The 76-year-old pontiff underwent a two-hour examination—his second in a week of grave illness that brought fears for his life—by three specialists and his personal physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi.

"As foreseen, the state of health of the Holy Father has improved perceptibly and progressively in the last few days," the doctors' bulletin said.

"Disturbances have disappeared, among them the hiccups, and it was possible gradually to resume direct feeding, which has permitted a satisfactory recovery of strength."

"Restful sleep, in part, has returned. The conditions of the cardiac-circulatory and respiratory systems remain good, as well as the blood condition."

Hatoyama Pledged To New Vote

Socialists Expect Win
At March 10 Elections

TOKYO (Friday) (AP) — Ichiro Hatoyama, a pro-U. S. conservative, yesterday was named prime minister but his Socialist supporters forced from him a pledge of new elections which they expect to win.

The Socialists, who oppose U. S. bases in Japan, rearmament, and Japan's pro-West foreign policy, obtained as a price of their support a promise that he would dissolve the Diet and call new elections by March 10.

Yoshida Resigns

Socialists then joined Hatoyama's Democrats in the lower house and gave him a 257 to 191 victory over Taketora Ogata, president of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal (conservative) party. The only Communist in the house abstained.

Yoshida, who steered Japan through seven trying postwar years by aligning it closely with the United States, resigned Thursday before the Socialist-Democrat coalition could pass a no-confidence motion.

The switch in prime ministers promised little immediate change in Japanese foreign policy. Hatoyama says Japan must maintain her place among free nations but he favors increased trade with Red China and Russia, as do the Socialists.

No Quick Change

Japanese political and business leaders predicted Hatoyama would do little, if anything, to change Japan's relations with the Communist bloc in the short time allotted before new elections.

Hatoyama called a Democratic party session for this morning to discuss his new Cabinet, which is likely to include some prewar figures familiar to the West.

It was almost certain to include Mamoru Shigemitsu, wartime foreign minister who signed the Japanese surrender, as deputy prime minister and foreign minister. Although he served a short term as a major "war criminal" he has many U. S. friends and is not anti-American.

Nomura Minister Of State

Former Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, ambassador to Washington at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, was slated for minister of state and chief of the Japan Defense Board. He also is friendly to the United States.

The newspaper Asahi said Hatoyama had asked pro-American Hisato Ichimada, governor of the National Bank of Japan, to be his finance minister.

Rains Made —Now They Won't Stop

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—A rainmaking team moved into Conclurry, in northwest Queensland, a week ago and it hasn't stopped raining since. Within hours after the experiment's start, rain began to fall. By last weekend up to 4 inches had soaked a wide stretch of cattle country and by Tuesday fall's totaled 5 1/2 inches. It is the world's first "wide range" rainmaking experiment. Instead of giving chemical treatment to individual clouds, silver iodide is being dropped from heights of up to 15,000 feet over areas 200 miles across. Chief rain scientist J. Bolton cautioned: "We won't know for about two months whether we have anything to do with the rain."

Soviet Sharpshooters Best; General Disturbed

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians now have the world's finest sharpshooters, and a retired Marine general said Thursday he thinks this is as disturbing as their possession of the atom or hydrogen bomb.

For Maj. Gen. Merritt A. Edson, who won the Medal of Honor at Guadalcanal, is convinced that wars—including the next one—finally are won by men who know how to handle a rifle.

Won Almost Everything

The general, who is executive director of the National Rifle Assn., has just returned from the 36th firing of the International Shooting Union's world championships in Caracas, Venezuela.

There the Russians were competing for the first time, and—"They won almost everything in sight," Edson said glumly. "Oh, we did all right in skeetshooting, but that's primarily an American game. I wouldn't be surprised if the Russians won that, too, when the next international comes around."

Edson said the Russians did so well because once they go in for something, they go whole hog.

Full-Time Teachers

"They have been pointing toward this since 1951," he said. And to help them point, they came up with 500 full-time teachers of marksmanship. "Strictly speaking," he said, "I don't suppose we have a full-time teacher in the whole country."

From this pool of well-trained shooters the Russians drew out a team, Edson said, and for four months they did nothing but shoot.

They sent a squad of 53 to Venezuela, including 35 shooters and assorted coaches and trainers. Every time a Russian shot, his coach was at his side.

'Really Wonderful'

By comparison, the United States had 21 shooters and three officials.

As a result, the Marine marksman said, "it was really wonderful to see those Russians shoot."

Edson concedes that in itself winning an international shooting match doesn't mean much. What counts, he said, is this:

The Russians are paying more and more attention to marksmanship at a time when this country has a tendency to pay less and less.

Learned Hard Way

And Edson is convinced of the value of straight shooting. "It's as important as any bomb," he said.

Edson thinks the Soviets learned the value of marksmanship the hard way, in their war with Finland, a country where most every man is taught to shoot. He said the Finns, by using white parkas against the snow and by employing old Indian tactics, relied on accurate shooting to get the job done. The Russians quickly got the point.

For some time now Edson has believed the government should help every young man in this country learn how to shoot.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

A new book is on the Paris market. It is called "The 48 Americans." It concludes that Americans are perfectly normal.

I am certainly glad to hear this. For I thought it might be normal to be a singing cowboy. Or a g a h n g stair. Which has all F r e n c h m e n know, is t h e American way of life.

This b o o k was written by Mr. Raymond Cartier. Correspondent for the picture magazine Paris-Match.

He said everybody he found in the States was pretty normal. Getting divorces. Popping off with bum tickers. Rushing into bars at 7 o'clock to knit up frayed nerves.

"The hard truth," he wrote, "is that America is coming to resemble Europe more and more."

"Increasing bureaucracy. Mounting socialism. Obligatory military service in time of peace."

Americans, he said, don't lip the jug any more than the lusher of Europe. They just belt that gin, son. While the Frenchman adds a little Dubonnet to his.

I am glad to hear this. Because I have concluded that the French are pretty normal too. A matter which I will soon put in a book called "How to Get Around the Arrondissements."

I think it perfectly normal for a taxi driver to park in the middle of the street and refuse to go anywhere.

I find it completely sane to jump in the Seine instead of doing a Brodie off the Brooklyn Bridge.

There are a lot of mistakes made about France by Americans. Americans think Frenchmen sit around and make love all day.

This is not true. They just sit around all day and think about it. Americans sit in their offices and think about it. The Frenchman sit at sidewalk cafes and think about it.

Both vote against whatever party is in power. The French do it every day. That is the only difference.

The more I think of it, the more I am sure that we are both normal. I am right and Cartier is right.

Chicago traffic is getting as bad as Paris. And Paris is getting as bad as Los Angeles.

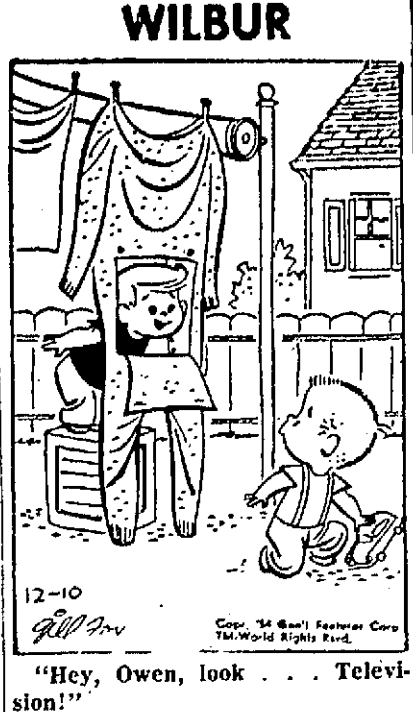

We both say the same things to other drives. Only they say it in French.

We have singing cowboys. They have the violin players at Monseigneur.

We both pay too much in night clubs and are terribly overtaxed.

American bellboys and French porters have exactly the same expression when they look at the tip. Like you had handed them a raw egg.

We each learn impractical phrases while studying the other language.

"Voo-ull-gay voo shahrzhy duh may bahgahzh?"

"Quil you tek tchardji ov mai bagidj?"

If this is not a normal life, what is? Many Americans think the French are impractical.

Americans whistle at pretty girls from in front of the drug store. The French do it from the sidewalk cafes. Sitting down. This is practical because it is less tiring. If you are not tired, you can whistle louder and oftener.

We think the franc move up and down. But a Frenchman says it is the dollar. One day you buy dollars for 360 francs. Next day they are selling at 350. What kind of way is that to run your money?

As you can see we are both pretty much alike. Pretty normal. We both eat with the fork in the wrong hand, like to stir the bubbles out of champagne and ask the orchestra to play "La Vie en Rose."

We don't stand the coffee overseas and think the English are the oddest people on earth.

We are both fond of money. And if you ask me, the French are getting more like normal Americans everyday.

Red Decline Is Possible —Clinchy

Addresses Meeting Of Civic Clubs, NCCJ

If the free world responds to its challenge wisely and patiently, the present generation will witness the decline of Communism.

These were the words of Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, as he spoke before a joint meeting of Lincoln civic clubs and the executive board of the Lincoln chapter of the NCCJ.

To meet its challenge, Dr. Clinchy said the free world will need adequate military power to stop aggression. Also, he said, the free world must clean up conditions which play into the hands of Communist agitators and conspirators.

Four Things
He referred to three conditions as economic injustices, corruption in government and hostilities such as anti-Semitism, anti-Catholicism, anti-Protestantism and racial racism.

Speaking specifically in regard to Asia, Dr. Clinchy asserted Asiatic people want four things:

1. Freedom.
2. Development of science and technology.
3. Education.
4. Peace to give them time to solve their problems of poverty, illiteracy, disease and discrimination.

Cold War
Four other points, for living in the cold war, were also made by Dr. Clinchy. They were:

1. Learn to live with people who are different.
2. Be for something, not just anti-Communist.
3. Understanding is more important than the H-bomb.
4. Don't be afraid, have faith. This is God's world, not man's world.

Dr. Clinchy has just completed a tour of Europe and Asia. Besides the NCCJ, clubs represented at the meeting were the Optimists, Lions and Knife and Fork.

Plans Made To Invite Airmen For Holiday Dinners

The hospitality committee of the Chamber of Commerce Air Base Co-ordinating committee may make Christmas more enjoyable for airmen stationed at the base here.

They have inaugurated a Christmas-In-A-Home program.

Requests for airmen guests will be received at the Chamber of Commerce, through Dec. 16. Each request will be confirmed by letter from the Chamber, and the names turned over to Air Base officials who will, in turn, contact young men interested in being part of a family group on the holiday. Citizens who register with the Chamber will be asked how many airmen they wish to entertain, time of dinner, and special preferences such as: married or single, specific race or religion.
